SHOT THROUGH THE WINDOW.

A Jersey City Man Killed While Sitting in His Kitchen.

Fatal Result of Somebody's Careless Fourth of July Firing.

John Wallace, twenty-five years old, shipping clerk for George H. H. & Co., 425 Broome street, died this morning at his home, 19 Madison avenue, Jersey City Heights, from a bullet wound in the head which he received last night.

It was a strange fatality. Wallace, who had been at South Beach all day with his wife, dropped into a rocking-chair in the kitchen on the second floor, directly in front of a window.

The lower half of the window was raised and a wire screen had been adjusted to the space. Wallace was reading a novel by the light of the lamp, when a shot, which was heard and his head fell forward on his chest.

Mrs. Wallace ran to her husband's side and found him unconscious. A circular hole in the wire screen exactly on a line with Wallace's right ear told the wife from whence the bullet came.

There is an open lot back of Wallace's house, and in it at the time were some small boys, who say they did not hear a pistol.

On Larch street, the next street back of Seaman avenue, is a house numbered 85, occupied by Theodore Myers, his wife and his brother. Theodore has a gun, but it hasn't been fired for years. He says his brother was, however, firing a pistol yesterday.

Detective McNally, of Jersey City Headquarters, is working on the case. He is familiar with the inhabitants of that faraway portion of Jersey City. He thinks that whoever fired the shot is alarmed, now that Wallace is dead, but that he will give himself up eventually. It was plainly, in the detective's opinion, an accident.

DISGRACE KILLED HIM.

James Nugent Couldn't Bear to See His Son in Prison.

James Nugent, who had been an under-keeper in the Hudson County Penitentiary for fifteen years, died in the house of his daughter in Henderson street, Jersey City.

When his son, Charles Nugent, one of the convicted ball-box stuffers arrived at the penitentiary last Tuesday with the other prisoners, it was the father's duty to open the door through which he passed into the office of the prison, and to enter the record-book the names and pedigrees of the prisoners.

He had not heard of the Judge's order, and when he saw his son among the prisoners the shock was too much for him and he left the office at once, weeping like a child.

That night he complained of illness and was taken to his daughter's home and took to his bed and never left it. He continued to sink until last evening, when he died.

ALDERMAN NOONAN A HERO.

He Rescues a Mother and Child from a Burning Building.

Andrew A. Noonan, Vice-President of the Board of Aldermen, is hailed as a hero to-day, and Mrs. Sarah Jacobson, of 324 Madison street, blesses him for saving the life of her baby in a Fourth of July fire panic.

Fire started in some old mattresses in the cellar of the building at 2:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon and smoke and flame soon cut off the upper floors.

Mrs. Jacobson appeared on the third balcony panic-stricken and about to drop her one-year-old baby.

The little Alderman yelled to her, and scrambling up the fire escape, seized the babe just as she fainted, and carried it down in safety. He then hurried back and carried the terrified Mrs. Jacobson down, too.

MRS. KELTERT DROWNED.

Two New York Ladies Thrown Out of a Boat on Esopus Lake.

A despatch from Kingston, N. Y., published this morning, announces the death by drowning, through the upsetting of a boat on Esopus Lake, of Mrs. A. Keltort, of 502 West Forty-third street, this city, and her husband, Herbert Keltort, who was rowing the boat.

Mrs. Wheatley, of 102 West Fifty-sixth street, and Mrs. Keltort's baby were in the boat also, and were saved. The ladies became frightened at the movement of Slater's Newfound dog, which was in the boat, and in endeavoring to avoid the animal capsize the boat.

For the School Board's New Home.

A meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has been called for to-morrow to make provision for the erection of the new building for the headquarters of the Board of Education at Park avenue and Fifty-ninth street.

PATERSON REJOICES TO-DAY.

Gov. Abbott Reviews the Centennial Celebration Parade.

National Guards and G. A. R. Men March Through Flag-Decked Streets.

First division.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

PATERSON, N. J., July 5.—The celebration of the centennial of this city was resumed to-day, with undiminished ardor. The city is gayly decked, and the streets are thronged with residents and visitors, the latter including thousands of the descendants of the "Jersey Dutch" settlers of the northern counties of the State.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning a special train arrived over the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railway bringing Gov. Leon Abbott and his staff, together with a number of other distinguished guests, including twenty-five Congressmen.

The guests were escorted to the Hamilton Club for light refreshments, after which they repaired to the reviewing stand, where they reviewed the military parade, which was under the command of Grand Marshal Col. Andrew Dierom. The parade was in two divisions, made in this order:

First division.
L. A. Plagel, Marshal.
Platoon of Police.
First United States Artillery.
First Brigade, National Guard of the State of New Jersey.
Visiting National Guard organizations.

Second division.
Marshal William G. Buckley, Department Commander William A. Donnelly and staff.
Fifth of New Jersey and Army of the Republic.

Visiting G. A. R. Posts.
Second Battery, N. G. S. N. Y.
Gov. Abbott was the reviewing officer, and the parade was witnessed by thousands of proud Paterstonians.

After the review Gov. Abbott and party took luncheon at the Hamilton Club, a reception following at the headquarters of the Centennial Committee. A drive about the city followed, and the circumstances attending the departure have led to the confusion on the part of the respective families that the pair have eloped.

Fell Downstairs to Death.
William Kavanaugh, of 355 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia, who came to the city to spend the Fourth with his niece, Mrs. Theresa Monahan, of 1730 Amsterdam avenue, at 2 o'clock this morning fell up and went out to the hall. In the dark he fell down stairs and was instantly killed. He was 53 years of age and was a native of Ireland.

KYLE'S NOVEL RESIGNATION.

An Absent Policeman Meets His Shield to His Captain.

The return through the mail to Police Capt. Hooker, of the Morrisania squad, of Patrolman William Kyle's shield, fire key and record book is regarded by the authorities as tantamount to that officer's resignation.

Patrolman Kyle was absent on a week's vacation. The simultaneous absence of a Mrs. Harriet Kelly, who of a saloon-keeper on Tinton avenue, and the circumstances attending her departure have led to the confusion on the part of the respective families that the pair have eloped.
